

One cup of ice is in the shade.
One cup of ice is in the sun.
What do you predict will happen?

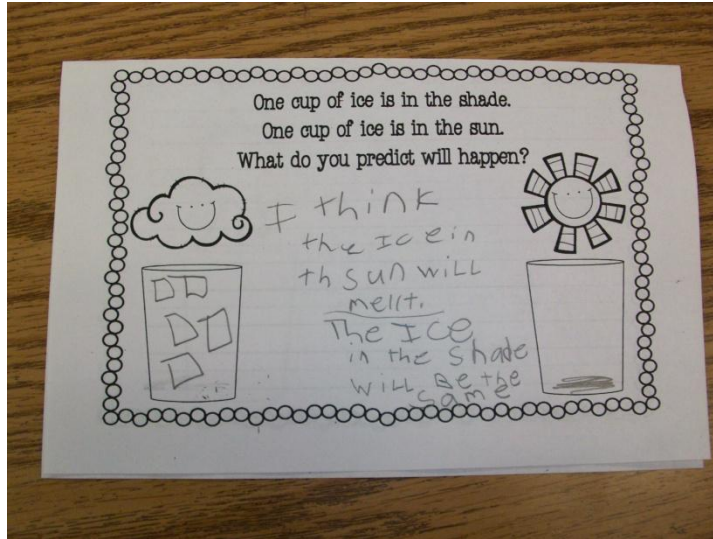

A series of ten horizontal lines for writing, each consisting of a solid top line, a dashed middle line, and a solid bottom line, all contained within a decorative circular border.

Sun Experiment

Copy the experiment pages front and back.

Students fold the paper in half and write the prediction on the front.

After the experiment they can record the results on the inside.
